

UNSW
THE UNIVERSITY OF NEW SOUTH WALES

Arts & Social Sciences

School of the Arts and Media

ARTS2032

Creative Writing

(six units of credit)

SESSION 2, 2016

CONTENTS

Staff contact details/course structure	3
Course summary, aims, learning outcomes	4
Lecture schedule and reading list	5
Modes of assessment	11
Assessment criteria	13
Expectations for course/guide to workshopping	15
Teaching rationale and strategies	16
Course evaluation	17
Information about submission and plagiarism	18

COURSE CONVENOR:

Dr Paul Dawson

Room: Robert Webster 218

Phone: 9385 2220

Email: paul.dawson@unsw.edu.au

Consultation hours: by appointment

TUTOR: Dr Prue Gibson

Email: p.gibson@unsw.edu.au

Course Structure

Lectures

- Two one-hour lectures per week on contemporary fiction, poetry, and experimental writing
- Lectures will include analysis and discussion of course readings (bring course reader)
- Tuesdays 11am-12pm: Electrical Engineering G24
- Wednesdays 11am-12pm: Webster Theatre B

Tutorials

- Weekly one-hour tutorials discussing course readings and take-home writing exercises, and workshopping draft manuscripts for folio of creative work
- Tutorials begin in Week Two of semester

Mobile phones MUST be turned off during lectures and tutorials

Textbooks

- A course reader (2 vols.) is available from the university bookshop

Summary of the course

The aim of this course is to familiarise students with a wide range of contemporary literature and to encourage them to experiment with a variety of different styles and genres in their own writing. Students undertaking this course will acquire a practical understanding of how literature works by developing their critical reading skills, and will have the opportunity to gain feedback on their own writing in a supportive workshop environment. Students will also develop the craft skills necessary to generate, revise and edit their own work.

Aims of the course

- To provide students with an awareness and understanding of the pluralism and generic range of contemporary literature
- To develop the critical reading skills of students, which will enable them to identify and analyse the formal elements of a work of literature, and to critically appraise and improve their own writing
- To provide students with a practical knowledge of a range of literary techniques and devices in the craft of writing
- To encourage students to experiment with a variety of different styles and genres in their own writing
- To help students develop their skills in generating, drafting, revising and editing their own work
- To encourage students to consider the literary and social contexts within which their own work is being written
- To facilitate through workshops the production of a polished and professionally presented folio of creative writing

Expected learning outcomes

- 1) Knowledge of movements, styles and genres in contemporary literature
- 2) Ability to identify formal elements of literature and how they operate in specific genres
- 3) Familiarity with the practical decisions writers make in relation to the craft of writing
- 4) Appreciation of the importance of the critical faculty to the creative process
- 5) Ability to critically appraise your own work and the work of others
- 6) Improved skills in drafting, revising and editing your own manuscripts

LECTURE SCHEDULE AND READING LIST

WEEK ONE

Tuesday 26th July

Introduction

Wednesday 27th July

Plot versus Character?

readings

David Eggers, "Notes for a Story of a Man Who Will Not Die Alone"

Helen Garner, "Life of Art"

Barbara Wels, "Gorgeous"

Helen Fielding, opening to Bridget Jones' Diary

WEEK TWO

Tuesday 2nd August

Narrative Voice: Third Person

readings

Patrick Suskind, opening to Perfume

Tim Winton, opening to The Riders

Toby Litt, "Map-Making Among the Middle-Classes"

Edward Berridge, "Bored Teenagers"

Wednesday 3rd August

Narrative Voice: First Person

Readings

Susanna Moore, opening to In the Cut

Jonathan Littell, opening to The Kindly Ones

W.G. Sebald, "Dr Henry Selwyn," The Emigrants

Bret Easton Ellis, opening to The Rules of Attraction

Ewan Morrison, "Re: Your ad"

WEEK THREE

Tuesday 9th August

Narrative Voice: First Person Plural ('We') and Second Person Narrators

readings

Jeffrey Eugenides, opening to The Virgin Suicides
Zakes, Mda, opening to Ways of Dying
Lorrie Morre, "How"
Frederick Barthelme, "Shopgirls"
Paul Dawson, "A Gun in Your Pocket"

Wednesday 10th August

Description and Narrative Time

readings

Glenda Adams, "Reconstruction of an Event"
Margaret Atwood, opening to The Handmaid's Tale
Bret Easton Ellis, "Morning" from American Psycho

WEEK FOUR

Tuesday 16th August

Showing and Telling

readings

Isabelle Allende, "Phantom Palace"
Dean Kiley, "So Then I Said to Helen"
Wayne Macauley, "The Affair in M—"
Raymond Carver, "Are You a Doctor?"

Wednesday 17th August

The Double Voice: Narrator and Character

readings

Ian McEwan, extract from Atonement
Tom Wolfe, extracts from I am Charlotte Simmons
David Foster Wallace, extract from "Mr. Squishy"
Jonathan Franzen, opening to The Corrections
Hubert Selby Jr, opening to Last Exit to Brooklyn

WEEK FIVE

Tuesday 23rd August

Read it and Weep: The Sound of Poetry

Wednesday 24th August

The Line in Contemporary Poetry

readings

Bronwyn Lea, "The Other Way Out"
Robert Gray, "Late Ferry"
Coral Hull, "How Do Detectives Make Love?"
Nin Andrews, "Where Memory Ends"
Stephen Lawrence, "Is this Poetry?"
Andrew Zawacki, "1-3", Masquerade
Beth Shepherd, "Friday March 21 2003"
Michael Batinic, "Death in Autumn"

WEEK SIX

Tuesday 30th August

The Poetic State of Mind

readings

Anthony Lawrence, "Thanatos"
John Leonard, "Confessional"
Jordie Albiston, "The Fall"
Bronwyn Lea, "Tomorrow I Will Plant Flowers, Find a New Place to Hang my Keys"
Andrew Taylor, "Developing a Wife"
John Ashberry, "Summer"
Paul Dawson, "Imagining Winter"
Kate Fagan, "Anti-landscape: Lighthouse Beach", "Lighthouse Series"

Wednesday 31st August

From First Draft to Printed Page: Drafting, Revision and Editing

readings

Paul Dawson, "Thomas Pennington's Fetich"

WEEK SEVEN

Tuesday 6th September

How the Writing Workshop Works

Wednesday 7th September

If a Story Falls Down in the Woods and No-one Reads it, Did it Really Fall Down?

WEEK EIGHT

Tuesday 13th September

The lyric 'I' and its Others

readings

Anne Sexton, "The Addict"; "The Ballad of the Lonely Masturbator"
Sharon Olds, "When it Comes"
Bronwyn Lea, "Dog Days"; "A Place"; "Bronwyn Lea"
Emma Jones, "Waking"
Coral Hull, "Sparrow"
Ouyang Yu, "Translating Myself"
Bob Perelman, "Chronic Meanings"
John Kinsella, "Imitations of Sign and Subjectivity in York"
Bernard Welt, "I Stopped Writing Poetry"

Wednesday 14th September

Poetry from the Margins/Poetry of Social Protest

readings

Adrienne Rich, "Rape"
Gig Ryan, "If I had a Gun"
Ouyang Yu, "Fuck You Australia," "A Racist Chinese Father"
Ania Walwicz, "Australia"
Les Murray, "The Suspension of Knock"
Paul Dawson, "Thanks for the Poems, Pauline Hanson"
Kevin Hart, "To Australia"
John Kinsella, "Steel-box Filing Cabinet", "The Zoo Ark"
Lionel Fogarty, "Fuck all Departments", "Ain't No Abo Way of Communication"

WEEK NINE

Tuesday 20th September

Poetry of Urban Space: Writing the City

readings

Kenneth Slessor, "William Street"
Coral Hull, "Liverpool"
John Mateer, "Muslim Woman, Carlton"
Komninos, "The Ballad of King Street"
Jill Jones, "Saturday Morning in Ashfield"
Paul Dawson, "Daybreak"
Lionel Fogarty, "Urban Black"
Susan Sinclair, "Night Rider"
Jorie Graham, "Updraft"
John Updike, "New York City," "Icarus"
Charles Martin, "After 9/11"

Wednesday 21st September

Postmodern Exhaustion: Magic Realism and Metafiction

Readings

Peter Carey, "Do You Love Me?"

Jeanette Winterson, extract from The Passion
Julia Slavin, "Dentaphilia"
David Foster Wallace, "Octet"
Tim O'Brien, "How to Tell a True War Story"

WEEK TEN

Tuesday 4th October

Lines of desire, lines of flight: outside storytelling (Dr Prue Gibson)

Wednesday 5th October

Historical Fiction

readings

Gail Jones, "On the Piteous Death of Mary Wollstonecraft"
Michel Faber, opening to The Crimson Petal and the White
Simon Leys, opening to The Death of Napoleon
Edward P. Jones, opening to The Known World

WEEK ELEVEN

Tuesday 11th October

The Contemporary Voice: Minimalism to Maximalism

readings

Gautam Makalni, opening to Londonstani
Chimimanda Ngozi Adichie, "Jumping Monkey Hill"
Zadie Smith, opening to White Teeth
Adam Thirlwell, opening to Politics
Nicola Barker, opening to Clear

Wednesday 12th October

The Contemporary Sentence

readings

Cormac McCarthy, opening to The Road
James Ellroy, opening to American Tabloid
Salman Rushdie, opening to Satanic Verses
David Foster Wallace, "Luckily the Account Representative Knew CPR"

WEEK TWELVE

Tuesday 18th October

Poetry for the People: performance poetry/spoken word/poetry slam/ hip-hop

readings

Justin Chin, "Chinese Restaurant"

Lynne Procope, "Untitled"

Staceyann Chin, "I Don't Want to Slam"

Saul Williams, extract from "NGH WHT"

Emilie Zoe Baker, "Wet (moist page remix)" alicia sometimes, "good i can be," "the amp, the kick & the pretty kitties"

Philip Norton, "This is Not a Love Poem",

Wednesday 19th October

Student Readings (volunteers needed)

MODES OF ASSESSMENT

1) Minor Assignment: “Reading as a Writer”

- 750-1000 word practical criticism of a sample of writing in the course reader
- The model for this essay should be the critical practice of ‘reading as a writer’ conducted in lectures. When analysing your chosen piece the following questions should guide you:
 - What are the most striking formal elements of this piece? Choose one or two which are most important to its success, and analyse how they operate, ie.: plot structure, narrative voice, point of view, dialogue, description, etc for fiction; line breaks, stanzaic structure, metaphor, layout or metrical form, etc for poetry.
 - How does the writer’s use of these elements inform the aesthetic, thematic or political effects of the piece? For instance, how is irony generated by a particular narrative voice; how does point of view create or exclude sympathy for specific characters; how do certain metaphors establish a critical or otherwise tone; how is everyday language semantically reoriented when included in a poem; how does a line break shift or multiply the meaning of a sentence?
 - How does this piece fit into a broader critical context? Does it draw upon recognisable generic conventions? Is it part of a particular movement or literary style? What is its relationship to other similar works (of fiction or non-fiction), to a moment in history, to public debate?
- 30% of overall mark
- DUE DATE: Monday 5th September (week seven)

2) Major Assignment: Creative folio

- 3000-3500 words of prose (12-14 double-spaced pages) or 300 lines of poetry (approx. 15 pages – max 20 lines per page). Some of you will hand in a combination of these genres, in which case your total folio should not exceed twenty pages

- The folio will be comprised of redrafts of material workshopped during the semester
- All pieces must be complete; no fragments or work in progress (unless you are handing in part of a longer piece and have cleared this with your tutor)
- All submissions must meet professional standards of presentation: double-spaced, page-numbered, twelve-point font with wide margins on left and right-hand sides (poetry can have 1.5 spacing). Manuscripts must be proof-read for spelling, grammar, punctuation, syntax, etc.
- 60% of overall mark
- DUE DATE: Thursday 3rd November

3) tutorial preparation

- All students must submit a draft manuscript of their Creative Folio for formal workshopping in class.
- Students are expected to attempt the writing exercises for each week of the semester, even when formal workshopping has commenced. To ensure that this requirement is meant, students will be asked at random throughout the duration of the semester to submit their exercises to the class tutor.
- Students are expected to annotate and provide written commentary on all manuscripts submitted for workshopping by their peers. To ensure that this requirement is met, the tutor will conduct random spot checks of manuscripts before they are handed back to their authors at the end of a class.
- 10% of overall mark

To pass this course students must:

- attend at least 80% of lectures and tutorials (a roll will be taken)
- satisfactorily complete each mode of assessment

ASSESSMENT CRITERIA

Minor Assignment: “Reading as a Writer”

You will be assessed on your ability to:

- produce a clearly written, grammatically correct and logically structured essay
- identify and discuss the formal elements of the work in terms of the writer’s craft decisions
- construct a fluent and coherent argument about the piece of writing under critical scrutiny
- support this argument with a ‘close reading’ of the work
- cite and analyse appropriate passages as textual evidence

Major Assignment: Creative Folio

- Professional presentation of manuscript, suitable for submission to journal editors and publishers: this means appropriate layout for the genre of work submitted, and proof read for errors
- Competence in craft skills (relating to narrative voice, plot structure, line breaks, dialogue, etc) developed throughout the semester, and relevant to the genre within which the work operates (poetry, fiction, fictocriticism, etc)
- Improvement of work from draft manuscript workshopped in class to final polished piece submitted for assessment; ie. evidence of redrafting and editing of original manuscript based on judicious consideration of feedback from tutor and fellow students. This will demonstrate your ability to see self-criticism as a crucial part of the creative process, your confidence as a writer, and your willingness to accept the realities of the publishing industry
- Displaying ambition, originality and innovation, ie.: work which avoids literary cliches and resists formulaic recycling of generic templates or well-worn narrative structures; work which attempts to explore complex ideas or emotions; to experiment with narrative structure; to engage with difficult issues; to renovate or extend existing genres, to demonstrate a dialogic awareness of previous traditions or contemporary movements in literature, etc

- Quality of writing – an unavoidably subjective criterion which requires trust in the professional opinion and critical taste of the marker. The nebulous and unrealistic concept of ‘publishable quality’ will not be employed here so much as a flexible standard of writing in relation to the work of other students.

Tutorial preparation

To satisfy this assessment requirement you are expected to:

- Attempt and maintain copies of the weekly writing exercises
- Provide written feedback on all manuscripts submitted for workshopping

Relation between the assessment criteria and the learning outcomes

- The minor assignment in “Reading as a Writer” will help you to develop your understanding of the craft of writing, to refine your critical reading skills and appreciation of literature, and to better understand the decisions you make in your own writing.
- The Creative Folio will allow you to put into practice the writing skills you have learnt during the course by producing your own original work.
- The tutorial preparation will encourage you to write regularly and experiment with different strategies and conventions of writing. It will also encourage you to gain confidence in presenting your work to readers, to develop the ability to accept criticism of your work, and to develop your ability to critically appraise the work of others, which will help you edit and revise your own work.

Assessment task	Length	Weight	Learning outcomes assessed	Due date
Reading as a Writer	750-1000 words	30%	1-4	5th Sep
Creative Folio	3000-35000 words	60%	3-6	3rd Nov
Tutorial Preparation	N/A	10%	2-6	N/A

IMPORTANT INFORMATION ABOUT HOW THE COURSE WORKS

How you are expected to engage with the course

You will get the most out of this course if you attend all lectures and tutorials, present your work to class as often as possible, and participate fully in group discussions.

Your ideas and opinions in workshops are vital to the success of the course because it relies very much on group-based learning. The workshop is both a form of pre-publication, where you get to test your work with a sympathetic readership, and a communal creative process in which readers share suggestions for re-writing.

Tutorials in the first part of the semester will focus on reading and discussing the weekly writing exercises. Tutorials in the second part of the semester will be devoted to workshopping student manuscripts, with the aim that these manuscripts will then be revised for assessment at the end of semester. All students must submit draft manuscripts for workshopping in order to pass the course.

Guidelines for workshopping

Depending on class sizes, formal workshopping of draft manuscripts will begin in Week Six. A class timetable will be drawn up and each student must put their name down for one workshopping session. Although the point of the workshop is to discuss works in progress, it is important to present a well-developed draft. Handing in one or two pages with the sketchy outline of a story, or a couple of scribbled poems turned out the night before, will not help you or the class. Therefore, think carefully and realistically about when you will have material ready, and once you have nominated a date, commit to it.

When it is your turn to be workshopped, it is your responsibility to email your draft manuscript to the class at least three days in advance. This draft should be a word document attached to the email. All manuscripts submitted for workshopping should be double-spaced, page numbered, with a minimum of two centimetre margins. This formatting is important for two reasons: 1) ease of reading and workshopping. Readers need space in the margins and between the lines for proof-reading suggestions, annotations and commentary. Page numbers help everyone find a particular line or passage being discussed in class; 2) professional practice. Manuscripts submitted to literary journals need to be professionally presented, otherwise they run the risk of being rejected without being read.

It is the responsibility of all students to print up and read these manuscripts before class and come to class prepared to edit and critically assess the material. All work should then be returned to its author with written feedback. It is very poor form to miss the class following the week in which you have workshopped your manuscript.

Students are expected to continue their course readings and writing exercises throughout the semester.

SOME INTERESTING THOUGHTS ON HOW THE COURSE IS TAUGHT

Rationale for the inclusion of content and teaching approach

There is no ‘canon’ in Creative Writing pedagogy so the material in the course reader is an inevitable reflection of the individual tastes of the course convenor and the lecturers. Nonetheless, these readings have been selected to give students a feel for the range of contemporary literature, for what is being written now. Without understanding the current state of the art it is hard to be innovative or fresh with your own writing. The readings have also been selected as exemplars of the various formal devices discussed in lectures, and as examples of good writing. They will hopefully provide students with models, with standards to aspire to, with inspiration to write. Students are encouraged to be rigorous with their reading, to really focus at the level of the sentence, or the poetic line, on how literary effects are achieved by writers. Students are encouraged to experiment with forms and styles they are not familiar with, and, above all, to be ambitious.

Teaching strategies

- lectures to impart knowledge of the range of genres and formal devices evident in contemporary literature; to provide an understanding of the craft of writing; and to share with students the great joys of literature

- writing exercises to encourage practical experimentation with these genres and devices, and to generate material for the creative folio
- a minor exercise in “reading as a writer” to further develop the critical reading skills which are essential to the creative process
- workshopping of student manuscripts to gain peer group feedback on works in progress and to develop skills of critical appraisal, editing and redrafting

Course evaluation and development

This course is continually being developed to reflect shifts in contemporary literature and the lecturers’ changing approaches to teaching, in the context of ongoing international scholarship on Creative Writing pedagogy. Honest and productive student feedback is vital to this ongoing process. Why do students enrol in Creative Writing classes? What do they actually hope to learn? These are key questions. If you have any comments about the course which can reasonably be addressed during the semester, please offer these thoughts informally to your tutor or the convenor.

The formal, and anonymous, CATEI evaluation process at the end of semester is also of great significance. Feedback from this forum has resulted in assessment criteria being refined and sharpened, lectures being pitched at a more appropriate level, and heads being nodded in frustrated agreement about the paucity of time available for workshopping.

Now that CATEI evaluations are conducted online, student participation has dropped dramatically, resulting in feedback which is statistically unreliable. For instance, when only a small proportion of students respond, one dissatisfied student can constitute 20% of the overall response. It tends to be only the students who loved a course or those who were disillusioned by it who take the time to fill out the surveys. This presents a skewed overall impression of what students thought. You are thus urged to take the time to fill out the CATEI survey at the end of semester. Remember too, that in the same way comments on an assignment are more helpful than a mark, your written feedback on the course is more important than the boxes you tick, or the circles you click on with your mouse.

OTHER STUFF

School Contact Information

Room 312, level 3 Robert Webster Building

Phone: (02) 9385 4856

Email: sam@unsw.edu.au

Website: <https://sam.arts.unsw.edu.au>

Attendance Requirements

A student is expected to attend all class contact hours for a face-to-face (F2F) or blended course and complete all activities for a blended or fully online course.

A student who arrives more than 15 minutes late may be penalised for non-attendance. If such a penalty is imposed, the student must be informed verbally at the end of class and advised in writing within 24 hours.

If a student experiences illness, misadventure or other occurrence that makes absence from a class/activity unavoidable, or expects to be absent from a forthcoming class/activity, they should seek permission from the Course Authority, and where applicable, their request should be accompanied by an original or certified copy of a medical certificate or other form of appropriate evidence.

A Course Authority may excuse a student from classes or activities for up to one month. However, they may assign additional and/or alternative tasks to ensure compliance. A Course Authority considering the granting of absence must be satisfied a student will still be able to meet the course's learning outcomes and/or volume of learning. A student seeking approval to be absent for more than one month must apply in writing to the Dean and provide all original or certified supporting documentation.

For more information about the SAM attendance protocols, see the SAM policies and guidelines webpage: <https://sam.arts.unsw.edu.au/students/resources/policies-guidelines/>

Essential Information

All SAM students must make a serious attempt at all assessments in order to pass the course.

For essential student information relating to: attendance requirements; requests for extension; review of marks; occupational health and safety; examination procedures; special consideration in the event of illness or misadventure; student equity and disability; and other essential matters, see the SAM Policies and Guidelines webpage: <https://sam.arts.unsw.edu.au/students/resources/policies-guidelines/>

Submission of Assessment Tasks

Students are expected to put their names and student numbers on every page of their assignments.

Turnitin Submission

If you encounter a problem when attempting to submit your assignment through Turnitin, please telephone External Support on 9385 3331 or email them on externalteltsupport@unsw.edu.au. Support hours are 8:00am – 10:00pm on weekdays and 9:00am – 5:00pm on weekends (365 days a year). If you are unable to submit your assignment due to a fault with Turnitin you may apply for an extension, but you must retain your ticket number from External Support (along with any other relevant documents) to include as evidence to support your extension application. If you email External Support you will automatically receive a ticket number, but if you telephone you will need to specifically ask for one. Turnitin also provides updates on their system status on Twitter.

Generally in SAM there will no longer be any hard-copy submission; assessments must be submitted electronically via either Turnitin or a Moodle assignment. In instances where this is not possible it will be stated on your course's moodle site with alternative submission details.

Late Assessment Penalties

An assessed task is deemed late if it is submitted after the specified time and date as set out in the course Learning Management System (LMS).

The late penalty is the loss of 5% of the total possible marks for the task for each day or part thereof the work is late. Lateness will include weekends and public holidays. This does not apply to a task that is assessed but no mark is awarded.

Work submitted fourteen days after the due date will be marked and feedback provided but no mark will be recorded. If the work would have received a pass mark but for the lateness and the work is a compulsory course component a student will be deemed to have met that requirement. This does not apply to a task that is assessed but no mark is awarded.

Work submitted twenty-one days after the due date will not be accepted for marking or feedback and will receive no mark or grade. If the assessment task is a compulsory component of the course a student will automatically fail the course.

Special Consideration Applications

You can apply for special consideration when illness or other circumstances interfere with your assessment performance. Sickness, misadventure or other circumstances beyond your control may:

- * Prevent you from completing a course requirement,
- * Keep you from attending an assessable activity,
- * Stop you submitting assessable work for a course,
- * Significantly affect your performance in assessable work, be it a formal end-of-semester examination, a class test, a laboratory test, a seminar presentation or any other form of assessment.

For further details in relation to Special Consideration including 'When to Apply', 'How to Apply' and 'Supporting Documentation' please refer to the Special Consideration website: <https://student.unsw.edu.au/special-consideration>

Academic Honesty and Plagiarism

Plagiarism is using the words or ideas of others and presenting them as your own. It can take many forms, from deliberate cheating to accidentally copying from a source without acknowledgement.

UNSW groups plagiarism into the following categories:

Copying: using the same or very similar words to the original text or idea without acknowledging the source or using quotation marks. This also applies to images, art and design projects, as well as presentations where someone presents another's ideas or words without credit.

Inappropriate paraphrasing: changing a few words and phrases while mostly retaining the original structure and information without acknowledgement. This also applies in presentations where someone paraphrases another's ideas or words without credit. It also applies to piecing together quotes and paraphrases into a new whole, without referencing and a student's own analysis to bring the material together.

Collusion: working with others but passing off the work as a person's individual work. Collusion also includes providing your work to another student before the due date, or for the purpose of them plagiarising at any time, paying another person to perform an academic task, stealing or acquiring another person's academic work and copying it, offering to complete another person's work or seeking payment for completing academic work.

Inappropriate citation: Citing sources which have not been read, without acknowledging the "secondary" source from which knowledge of them has been obtained.

Duplication ("self-plagiarism"): submitting your own work, in whole or in part, where it has previously been prepared or submitted for another assessment or course at UNSW or another university.

Correct referencing practices:

Paraphrasing, summarising, essay writing and time management

Appropriate use of and attribution for a range of materials including text, images, formulae and concepts.

Individual assistance is available on request from The Learning Centre. Students are also reminded that careful time management is an important part of study and one of the identified causes of plagiarism is poor time management. Students should allow sufficient time for research, drafting and proper referencing of sources in preparing all assessment items.